An Important Change.

Quite an important change in the management of the Western Minnesota Division will take place in a few days, which will not be belied by the people of Brainerd, as the change will involve the loss of several of our best citizens. The contemplated change is the establishment at Staples of headquarters for the handling of trains on the West Minnesota Division, with Assistant Superintendent Van-dersee, of this city, in charge. Mr.
Vandersee will take with him Mr. C.
E. McMullen, as chief dispatcher, Mr.
Mr. E. J. Williams, as night chief, and Messrs. Husted, Matthews and Wiscott, as dispatchers. These gentlemen have all been residents of this city for some time, and have many warm friends who will greatly regret their departure. The change will probably take place the first of the coming week.

DIED.

McCarthy—At his residence in East Brainerd, on Tuesday, July 1st, 1890, of congestion of the lungs, Mr. Pat. McCarthy, aged 59 years, 3 months, and 15 days.

The deceased has been a resident of this city for several years past, during all of which time he was in the employ of the N. P. Foundry Co.
He was a very quiet and unassuming citizen, honest and honorable in all his dealings, and therefore had the respect and friendship of all who knew him. He leaves a wife and three daughters to mourn his loss, the oldest daughter being the wife of Conductor Jas. Smith, formerly of this city, but now of St. Paul. The funeral ceremonies took place yesterday at the Catholic church, the Rev.
Father Lawler officiating. His remains were followed to their last resting place in Evergreen cemetery by a large concourse of friends, the members of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, and his fellow employees of the foundry, attending in a body.

Celebrating the Fourth.

The glorious Fourth will be celebrated by the people of this city in various ways, the principal attractions being the gun club tournament at the Driving Park, the picnic and steamboat excursion at Rice Lake, and a picnic at the town of Crow Wing.

The gun club tournament, extending notices of which have appeared in these columns, began yesterday and is still in progress to-day, and is attracting large numbers of our citizens.

The 3rd Regt. Band will be in attendance at the club grounds this afternoon and enliven the occasion with music.

At Rice Lake the celebration is to consist of steamboat excursions up the river, boat races, foot races, swimming races, jumping, etc. Dancing will also be indulged in at the boat house during the afternoon and evening. A large attendance is anticipated.

Quite a goodly number of our citizens will also attend the celebration and picnic near Crow Wing, which will be a regular old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration. The order of exercises will be as follows: Salute at sunrise, reading of Declaration of Independence, oration by Hon. H. C.
Stivers, of this city, and singing of patriotic songs. The afternoon will be spent in sports of all kinds, the whole to conclude with a grand bowery dance in the evening. Extensive preparations have been made and a good time may be expected.

Quite a good many people will also spend the Fourth quietly rusticing at one of the numerous lakes surrounding the city. Certainly a variety of attractions are offered, and if any one fails to have an enjoyable time, it will not be for the want of an opportunity to do so.

The Blueberry Crop.

The blueberry crop this season, it is reported, will be the largest for several years past, and Indians in great numbers are said to be leaving Leech Lake reservation to gather it.
Indeed, it is reported that fully 1200 Indians will be in this vicinity for the next six or eight weeks. Several of our merchants are making arrangements to establish temporary trading posts in several sections where the berries are most numerous, and business in this line will be quite brisk this season. It is also quite probable that considerable difficulty will again be experienced because of the sale of whisky to the Indians, although we've got an idea that the heavy punishments that have been inflicted for offenses of this character during the past year, will have a tendency to restrain some that have heretofore engaged in this nefarious business.
At any rate close watch should be kept, and all violators of the law promptly arrested and punished, and in the future less difficulty with the Indians will be the result.

Ward Committees.

The following wards selected committees to act during the next two years, at the caucuses on Tuesday evening as follows:

First Ward—C. H. Douglas, P. M.
Lagerquist and J. S. Gardner.
Second Ward—H. Spalding, N. H.
Ingerson and W. E. Seelye.
Third Ward—H. Stein, W. H. Meek-ins and Robert Sturgeon.
Fourth Ward—Ole Larson, Nels Larson and Solomon Johnson.
Fifth Ward—John Willis, Victor Gustafson and L. P. Johnson.

The Tournament.

The second annual tournament of the Brainerd gun club commenced yesterday morning with a good attendance of shooters from abroad.
Much enthusiasm was manifested by the visiting gentlemen over the grounds and apparatus of the club of this city, and up to the hour of going to press the boys are enjoying themselves and the tournament bids fair to be one of the best and most largely attended of any ever held in the Northwest. On account of printing early this morning in order to celebrate we are able to give only the score of yesterday's shoot, but in next week's issue the entire score will be given. The following is the score:

Maud Granger in "Inherited."

In her new play, "Inherited," presented for the first time in this city at a large and fashionable audience at the Wheeler last night, Maud Granger has the best emotional part she has ever attempted, and she plays it most artistically. Whether or not the emotional is just what the theatre-going public long for just now, is a question. But there is no question that for those who do want their sympathies aroused as a result in the breeze, Miss Granger's Helen Carruthers is the one piece of acting that will do it most effectively. Mind you, this does not mean that there is much raving and tearing of passion to tatters. Not at all. Maud Granger is too much of an actress for anything of that sort. She appeals to you not only with the text, but with look, gesture, her own superb presence, and above all, with that subtle bond of sympathy which she so artistically compels her audience to acknowledge and appreciate. In her latest role Miss Granger shows more careful finish than ever before. While she is a bold, free colorist she finishes her matchless delineation of her complex character with those minute details which, too often overlooked, and after all the chief charm of the finished whole. You admire the work in its entirety for the perfection of its every part. Toledo Blade, May 31, 1890.

Miss Granger will appear at the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday evenings, July 7th and 8th.

Not a Good Advertisement.

The following from the Mississippi Valley Lumberman, the nucleus of which started from a Brainerd paper does not speak very well for Brainerd:

The delay which has occurred in publishing the Mississippi drives is, according to local paper, cutting a curious figure in the municipal financial affairs of Brainerd. This is the time of the year when the saloon-keepers are compelled to pay their license. Last year, according to the local paper, the drivers moved by Brainerd about the middle of June, the saloons did a rushing business, and the saloon-keepers took in enough to pay for their licenses. "This year," according to the local paper, "the drivers from the same streams will not reach here until the latter part of July. This city will need the license money promptly July 1st, to meet the interest charge due on the finest kind of that time." Perhaps the drivers will relish the knowledge that the saloon-keepers and the city of Brainerd are both depending upon their readiness to part with their money for very bad whisky in unlimited quantities.

Indians and Indian Traders.

I. U. White writes the American
Field as follows:

Ducks are exceptionally plentiful.
Every little lake and pond a few miles out from town, is showing up one or more bunches of young ducks; and the farmers from the prairie and meadow land south and east of the city, inform me that young chickens are more plentiful than for years.
We will be sure of good sport this fall on prairie chickens, but on ducks the sport will be mostly north of the city, we will probably have very little show, as every young duck and partridge will be killed, and all the deer either killed or driven out of the country by the Indians, who will be down from the Leech Lake and White Earth reservations by the hundreds to harvest the blueberry crop, which is going to be heavier than for years.
There are ducks enough being hatched right here to afford to the finest kind of sport from the time the season opens until the northern ducks commence
infernal copper-colored, heathenish government pests. They are a curse to the entire upper country, and if it were not for them, we would have a veritable sportsman's paradise here for years to come.

As soon as they are through with the blueberry crop they are in the river swamps, and keep every duck away till so late in the fall that we only get once in awhile a chance flight of migrating birds.

They will probably be watched pretty closely this fall, and if caught they will be put through. But it is hard to get men to watch them, for if they catch onto a man watching them, a lot of them with the help of some of the Indian traders (who by the way, are more of a curse to the country than the Indians themselves), swear out warrants against them for selling whisky to them, and then the man is off to court and bound over. Not one in fifty of them is ever convicted; but it keeps them out of the way and answers their purpose, and gives a lot of them a picnic to go to court and appear against them.

sented for the first time in this city to a large and fashionable audience at the Wheeler last night, Maud Granger has the best emotional play she has
sympathies swayed as a reed in the breeze, Miss Granger's Helen Car-
mad raving and tearing of passion to tatters. Not at all. Maud Granger is too fine an actress for anything of that sort. She appeals to you not only with the text, but with look,
finish than ever before. While she is a bold, free colorist she finishes her matchless delineation of her complex
which too often are overlooked, and all the chiefest charm of the finished whole. You admire the work in its
part.—Toledo Blade, May 31, 1890.

Not a Good Advertisement.

Valley Lumberman, the nucleus of
of which started from a Brainerd paper does not speak very well for
Brainerd:

bringing the Mississippi drives in, according to a local paper, cutting a curious figure in the municipal financial affairs of Brainerd. This is the
local paper, the drives moved by Brainerd about the middle of June, the saloon drives the rubing business, and the saloon-keepers took in enough to pay for their licenses. "This year," naively remarks the local paper, "the drives from the same streams will not reach here until the latter part of
interest charges which come due at that time." Perhaps the drivers will
whisky in unlimited quantities.

Indians and Indian Traders.

I. U. White writes the American
Field as follows:

Ducks are exceptionally plentiful.
more bunches of young ducks; and the farmers from the prairie and
are more plentiful than for years.
and deer, which are mostly north of
down from the Leach Lake and White
to harvest the blunder crop, which is going to be heavier than for years.
right here to afford the finest kind of sport from the time the season opens until the northern ducks come down
were not for them, we would have a veritable sportsman's paradise here for years to come.

flight of migrating birds.

hard to get men to watch them, for if
they catch onto a man watching them,
of the Indian traders (who by the way,
are more of a curse to the country
saves their purpose, and gives a lot
appear against them.

A Cass County Railroad.

The St. Paul Press says: The Northern Mississippi Railway Company, of Minneapolis, with a capital stock of $100,000. This company organizes for the purpose of "building, improving and operating a railway from the government dam at the outlet of Cross Lake, in township 137, range 27, in Cass county, to the south line of section 13, township 139, range 23, in the same county. The incorporators wisely limits its indebtedness to $250,000. The incorporators are John B. Atwater, Charles H. Babcock, Samuel Hill, Anson B. Jackson and John L. McGuire, all of Minneapolis.

The County Convention. The Republican county convention met at the court house in this city on Wednesday afternoon in accordance with the call issued by Chairman Howe. The meeting was called to order and the call read. A motion was made that the convention proceed to the election of a temporary chairman, and F. W. Wieland and J. J. Howe were placed in nomination. The first ballot resulted in six votes for Mr. Wieland and seven for Mr. Howe, with two scattering. A second ballot was ordered and the result was eleven for Wieland and three for Howe, the former being declared elected. J. N. Nevers was elected temporary secretary. On motion the chairman appointed a committee of three on credentials, three on permanent organization and five on resolutions, the committees being made up as follows: Credentials—Wm. Percy, Peter Walters and D. B. Smith. Permanent Organization—W. A. Fleming, J. S. Gardner and S. W. Gray. Resolutions—Mr. Knudson, Ed. Brophy, J. S. Gardner, C. H. Douglas and H. Stein. The committee on credentials retired and decided that the following delegates were entitled to seats in the convention: First Ward—C. H. Douglas, J. S. Gardner and F. W. Wieland. Second Ward—D. B. Smith, J. N. Nevers, W. A. Fleming, Wm. Percy. Third Ward—H. Stein and Ed. Brophy. Fourth Ward—P. Walters and Ole Larson. Fifth Ward—Mr. Knudson and J. N. True. Oak Lawn—S. W. Gray. Garrison—J. B. Douglas, by proxy from Joe Miller. The committee on organization reported and advised that the temporary organization be made permanent. A motion was made to that effect and carried. The convention then proceeded to the election of delegates to the state convention by ballot. The first ballot resulted in the election of N. H. Ingersoll, H. Spalding and J. J. Howe, they each having received a majority of the votes cast. Another ballot was ordered for the election of the balance of the delegation, which resulted in the selection of J. L. Camp, John Willis and S. W. Gray. On motion the convention then proceeded to ballot for delegates to the congressional convention, the first ballot resulting in the election of the following gentlemen: M. Hagberg, J. J. Howe, S. W. Gray, J. S. Gardner, J. N. Nevers and W. A. Fleming. The matter of electing a county executive committee was then taken up, and on motion the vote was taken by ballot. The first ballot resulted in the election of J. J. Howe, J. S. Gardner, H. Spalding, S. W. Gray, and A. M. Bratt, of Ft. Ripley, as such committee. The committee on resolutions then submitted a report, and Mr. Fleming moved its adoption. Mr. True moved an amendment to Mr. Fleming's motion, substituting a set of resolutions that he had himself prepared. After considerable wrangling over a point of order a vote on the amendment was taken, and carried, when a motion to adjourn was offered and carried before the original question could be put, consequently no resolutions were adopted. The vote on the amendment was a mistake, as a large majority of the delegates are known to be opposed to sentiment expressed in the resolutions offered by Mr. True, and occurred because some thought the question was the original motion on the adoption of the resolutions offered by the committee. Merriam, he won't have any opposition to speak of in his race for a re-nomination. A compromise has been effected in the fight over the Louisiana lottery matter, whereby the matter of a renewal of the charter of that robbing concern will be submitted to a vote of the white people of the state. Improvement. In my condition, my appetite began to return, and I began to eat and digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to the medicine, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life, and I cannot thank you enough for it. We, the undersigned, citizens of Brooklyn, Mich., hereby certify that Mrs. J. A.
